BLACK AND WHITE YOUTH FIND COMMON CAUSE TO

END THE EXPLOITATION

Blacks and Whites are both exploited and oppressed by Capitalism. Repatriation would benefit both.

THE RECENT influx of bogus Tamil "refugees" was just the tip of the giant iceberg of continued coloured immigration into Britain. The Tories have once again broken their election promises by allowing tens of thousands of immigrants to flood in each year. There is no doubt that these have helped to swell the dole queues created by Thatcher's refusal to protect our dying manufacturing industries.

But the Alliance and Labour parties offer no alternative to this Tory treason. The Alliance plan to weaken the already pathetic immigration controls, and would certainly refuse to take any action against coloured "refugees". The Labour party would go even further.

Many of its MP's and most of its activists want to abolish immigration controls altogether. This is mainly because their support for homosexuals, criminal thugs and IRA murderers has caused millions of traditional Labour voters to think again. As it loses the confidence of the White working class, coloured immigrants become more valuable as a source of cheap votes for the Labour party than they are as cheap labour for the Tories.

POSITIVE DISCRIMINATION

But now Labour looks set to go even further. If they can win the next election, they will at once embark on a massive programme of "positive discrimination" to make sure that coloured unemployment falls fast - at the expense of White workers and taxpayers. A new report by the Manchester-based Centre for Local Economic Strategies calls on the Labour party to set specific targets to cut coloured unemployment by at least 75,000.

The report, Black People's Employment Needs, admits that this target would mean lowering recruitment standards and providing extra training for some Black candidates. But this, and the fact that it is only possible to discriminate in favour of Blacks by discriminating against White workers, does not bother the Centre.

And since the Centre is financed by 37 local Labour councils and three big unions, its recommendations are sure to be adopted by the Labour party nationally.

"REVOLUTIONARY"?

Some of the "left-wingers" involved see this as the start of a "revolutionary" process giving Blacks far more influence and power in Britain.

The National Front, on the other hand, cannot see what is so "revolutionary" about leaving White workers on the dole in order to try to "prove" to the millions of dissatisfied coloureds living in Britain that there is a place for them in our society. Capitalist employers will actually welcome the move, because it will allow them to blame the Labour party and trade union bosses for "forcing" them to take on more cheap Black labour.

The truth is that the Blacks were brought to Britain to be exploited. The British people never wanted them to come; they don't belong here, and an increasing number don't want to stay here. Increasing racial tension and violence is the inevitable result.

ANSWER

The only truly revolutionary answer to the problem is to use the thousands of millions of pounds now wasted each year on foreign aid, on "positive discrimination" schemes, on welfare payments and extra policing costs, to finance a massive scheme of phased and humane repatriation.

The lands from which these people came have had their economies wrecked by years of capitalist exploitation, the corruption of their own leaders and by the "brain drain" of many of their best youngsters to Britain.

But the skills they have learnt in Britain could now be used to rebuild their own countries. The money we now waste trying to make an unstable multi-racial society work could be used to finance their efforts. And Britain could once again become a stable White society.

Repatriation would bring massive benefits to Black and White alike. It is the truly revolutionary alternative to the multi-racial nightmare - and the only way to restore sanity to race relations.

BRUTAL BRITAIN

What on earth is it, in the mind of a man, that he can bring himself to sexually abuse a very old woman?

THE CURRENT wave of brutal attacks on frail old age pensioners has revolted us all. Although the vast majority of Members of Parliament still refuse to accept it, support among the British population as a whole for the return of the death penalty for such vile murderers is overwhelming.

The sick rape and murder of two defenceless old sisters, Susan and Florence Egerton (aged 92 and 81 respectively) in their home at Shaw, near Oldham, was only the latest in an ever-growing catalogue of horrific attacks on our old folk. Quite rightly, it prompted outrage in the national press.

But the Daily Mail took the opportunity to launch a totally uncalled for attack on another section of our population - White youth.

SIMPLE FACT

It is a simple fact that the overwhelming majority of these particularly sick violent sex attacks against old women are carried out by young blacks who have been forced to grow up in a society that has no place for them. Yet the Daily Mail decided to ignore this matter of record and instead portrayed the "typical" attacker as a young White, skinhead.

Now the skinhead image may not be to everyone's taste, but there is no evidence at all to suggest that skinheads, or any other group of White youngsters, are responsible for these disgusting crimes. Indeed, a report in the same paper of two other brutal attacks on old women, stated in its small print that the man responsible was Black.

EXPOSING THE HATEMONGERS PART 2

Meeting the staff

Destabilising the 'decent people'

"Leave it to the experts..."

"I have now given the names I have acquired to be checked out by British French security services, especially the South American staff a brief check by Geoffrey Stewart-Smith's institute. He has strong CIA links. I may try some body in the Israeli Foreign Office that I know for some checks on Kelly. It is now time for waiting for a feed-back and also further checks here."

"I have obtained a number of documents including the transcript of Kelly's interview with World in Action. It goes without saying that I would like this kept strictly secret."

"(Strictly secret): one of a series of reports on other journalists which London Weekend Television researcher and Searchlight Publishing Chairman Gerry Gable prepared... with a little help from 'the experts'."

In January 1964, three young men (2) were convicted at Highbury Magistrates Court for breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, after attempting to steal private papers from the self-proclaimed 'mild fascist' historian David Irving. Despite the fact that one of them was unemployed and the other two gave their professions as 'electricians', they were represented in Court by a Queens Counsel and $1,000 bail was put up by a businessman, company director Leslie Jacobs of Clapton. One of the three was additionally charged with stealing a GPO identity card which he used in the burglary. His name was Gerry Gable. Council for the defence told the court. "They hoped to find material they could take to Special Branch."

Twenty years later the same Gerry Gable, renewing Stuart Christie's Investigation Researcher's Handbook which had induced profiles of two leading right-wingers as examples of how to go about an investigation, dismissed the book with the scathing admonishment to "leave it to the experts". (4) We think our readers should be made aware of just what "experts" Mr. Gable has in mind, and why it is that Searchlight reacts so cautiously whenever anyone outside their secret circle dares step onto their tenuously guarded territory of re-investigating the extreme Right.

Born in January 1937, Gerry Gable is a former member of the Young Communist League (YCL), and stood as Communist Party candidate in the Northfield ward of Stamford Hill, north London, in 1962. He was also linked to the Zionist 'anti-fascist' 62 Group nominally led by Harry Bidney (manager of the Limbo Club in Soho) - formed by veterans of the anti-Mosley 43 Group (basically a CP set-up).

who thought the group had grown 'too liberal' - to counter the antics of Colin Jordan, John Tyndall, and the revived neo-Nazi movement of the early '60s. The 62 Group mostly supported the Begonia Herut organisation, a political successor to the Irgun Zvai Leumi terrorist group specialised in direct action, infiltration, dirty-tricks, and 'black-bag' jobs (burglaries). Gable has retained an enduring affection for 'black-bag' jobs, as a means of gathering information on target individuals, ever since.

Searchlight
Parallel to the activities of the 62 Group, a small anti-fascist journal was founded in London to monitor the activities of Jordan, Tyndall & Co. The journal was called Searchlight. Amongst its early editors were Labour MP's Reg Preeson and Joan Lester (both subsequently Government Ministers for Housing and Foreign Affairs respectively). Searchlight's "research director" was Gerry Gable. The journal ceased publication in 1967, but Gable, Maurice Ludmer (a veteran Communist and anti-fascist), and others stayed together as Searchlight Associates, in order to go on providing "research material" on the extreme Right to journalists and broadcasters. In 1974 Gable and Ludmer collaborated in the production of a pamphlet detailing the background and nature of the National Front: A Well Oiled Nazi Machine. The instant success of the pamphlet (it sold out in a few weeks), helped by the wave of concern awakened on the Left by the seeming advance being made by the NF and (incidentally, the re-emergence of 'anti-fascism' as a bandwagon for groups like the SWP to use for their recruitment drive), prompted Searchlight Associates to resume publication as a regular journal. The pilot issue of the new Searchlight appeared in February 1975, with Maurice Ludmer as its editor. Gable and Gable were also amongst the first sponsors of the Anti-Nazi League.

Since then Searchlight has built up an impressive reputation for investigative reporting, and has done pioneering work of genuine value in exposing the activities and international links of fascist organisations. But the political expediency of a perceived identity of interest in the short-term, in the cause of 'anti-fascism' just as in 'anti-communism', is apt to lead one to work with some strange allies. In Searchlight's case, opposition to the 'extremists' of the Right has opened up the door to the extremists of the centre, for whom Right and Left are equally perceived as a threat to 'democracy'.

"Strictly secret!"
Not only has Gable admitted, as part of his defence in the 1963 burglary trial, that he hoped to supply information to Special Branch on David Irving, but a confidential memorandum written by him to his producers in London Weekend

Television (where he worked until recently as a researcher presenter on the London Programme) he is now trying to work his ticket with an alleged 'heart condition' on 2 May 1977 gave clear, hard, evidence that he has also engaged in a two-way traffic with the security services of several countries, and acted as a conduit of misinformation for MI5 against fellow journalists, and socialist. The memo was the subject of an article by Duncan Campbell and Bruce Page in the New Statesman in February 1980. Gable has never successfully refuted the information contained in the article. When Campbell and Page went down to LWT's offices to confront Gable with the evidence and demand some answers, Gable simply cleared his desk and fled, refusing to talk to them. This is in marked contrast to his previous meeting with Campbell, whom he took out to an expensive account lunch during the ABC Official Secrets case to pump him for information he could pass on to his friends in Special Branch.

The memo, written by Gable following his visit to a lunch with a Security Service employee in May 1977, The nature of the official material received and received by him is suggested by the names I have acquired to be checked out by British/French security services... The nature of the official material received and recorded by him - interlarded with considerable quantities of random gossip - suggests that much of it was coloured by phone-tap information and informers' reports. What is firmly conspicuous about it is that it consists almost entirely of libellous untruths about a group of 'target' individuals - the Official Secrets defendants, the American deportees Philip Agee and Mark Houseball and several of their acquaintances. In certain respects, material from Special Branch memos must have been deliberately falsified in order to deceive Gable and his employers. What is secondly conspicuous about the material is that it parallels, in documentary form, the vague but rambling briefings which were dispensed in 1977 by Home Secretary Merlyn Rees to an MP expressing concern about either the Agee/Houseball deportation, or against the savage use of the espionage sections of the Official Secrets Act against Crispin Aubrey, Duncan Campbell and John Berry (the ABC trial). Naively enough, Gerry Gable has performed the valuable service of recording the Security Service's justification - as served up to a notoriously credulous recipient - for the great national security scare of 1976-8. The fact that it has since been exploded should not obscure recollection of how near it came to being a self-proving proposition. A more complex and more explosive aspect of the matter lies in the timing of MI5's briefing to Gable. The memo, written on 2

This week, we open up a more general use. First, we deploy evidence which affords the long-held suspicion that MI5 employs another classic device of arrogant intelligence agencies - 'black bag jobs', more bluntly, breaking-and-entering, at the same evidence also shows how far it has gone towards the position where a real 'target' of the intelligence agencies turn out to be the democratic institutions they are supposed to be defending. The limits of free press inquiry, as defined by MI5 officials, are frighteningly clear: what is worse is that they are prepared to use selective disinformation against citizens of any political colour, in order to prevent inquiry into the activities of the security services. It is steadily more difficult to resist report by DUNCAN CAMPBELL, RUC PAGE and NICK ANNING.

NOVEMBER 1978 the Official Secrets Act collapsed, and lurid manifestations of official buffoonery. World-wide opinion now has it as merely an ill-omened jape on the part of MI5.

New evidence presented here re-examines that its initial character was far more humorous. Recent NEW STATESMAN has exposed the squalid technologies employed by Britain's free-booting intelligence agencies: phone-taps, mail-interception, elaborate bugging devices. We would like to see a study in the use of the material they gather, specifically, a campaign against McCarthyism smears through the media, intended to influence both political opinion, and the likely course of criminal proceedings (that is, the Official Secrets trial etc).

The main document is an office memo from Gerry Gable, a reporter for London Weekend Television, which he says follows a lunch with a Security Service employee in May 1977. It records a conversation in which Gable is told that the ABC trial is not published out of any gratuitous desire to embarrass LWT - which has an impressive record of editorial independence - or Mr. Gable himself, who enjoys considerable standing among other journalists, particularly in the investigations of the National Front. But it provides a rare example of hard evidence about a subject which generally remains shadowy: the strategy and tactics of media manipulation, as employed by MI5 and the Special Branch.

The wording of Mr Gable's memo suggests that he was engaged in a two-way liaison with his security sources ('I have given the names I have acquired to be

The nature of the official material received and recorded by him - interlarded with considerable quantities of random gossip - suggests that much of it was coloured by phone-tap information and informers' reports. A more complex and more explosive aspect of the matter lies in the timing of MI5's briefing to Gable. The memo, written on 2

May 1977, clearly shows MI5's intense interest in manipulating events around the Agee/Houseball case and the beginnings of the ABC prosecution. But the person mentioned most frequently - and libellously - in its pages was not directly involved in either case: Philip Kelly, a young journalist who was indeed well-acquainted with both sets of accused men. Kelly, on the account of Gable's 'top-level security service sources', is presented (libellously) as the 'KGB man' deriving tremendous benefit from all their activities. Kelly was around this time one of the victims of a number of London thefts and burglaries which were clearly designed to gather information and documents, rather than loot. As Robin Cook MP has said more than once, suspicion has always inevitably pointed towards MI5. Up to now, pressure for any full inquiry has always been met with blind refusal. Now that it can be shown that MI5 had at the relevant time a deep fascination - not to say beserk obsession - with Kelly the 'master spy', such a refusal becomes rather harder to justify.

THE MEMO, ADMITTED to be one of a series, is headed 'Agencies', presumably a reference to Gable's information sources (named, apart from MI5, as the CIA, French and German security and the Israeli Foreign Office). The addressees are Julian Norridge and Mike Braham, both producers on LWT's London Programme and Barry Cox, the company's Head of Current Affairs. London Weekend never produced a full-

HOUSEBREAKING

At the age of 22 he pleaded guilty together with Michael Cohen (now a major shareholder in Searchlight Publishing Company) to attempting to break into the premises of W.H. Jones Ltd., with intent to commit a felony, and also to possessing housebreaking implements by night.

W.H. Jones was a commercial printers with a contract to print the rightwing magazine Spearhead. Researchers can verify these facts by checking the Jewish Chronicle of the 3rd September, 1963, and the same paper of the 26th August, 1964. Carpel was convicted as late as 1981 for arson on a right-wing owned printing works.

THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE are recorded on secret blacklists which are used by private security firms to screen prospective employees for their political views. This information is also passed to the police in exchange for similar help.

The TV programme World in Action infiltrated one of the major screening agencies, the Economic League, which is an obscure but very sinister organization funded by Big Business. The programme used two businessmen pretending to want to subscribe to the League's information service. Their meeting with Alan Harvey, the League's official for the north east of England, was secretly filmed.

SPY

Harvey is one of the sixty full-time officials the League's paymasters think necessary to spy on the British workforce. He was filmed telling the businessmen that if there was anyone they wanted to know about "we can do up to ten names in three minutes."

The names are culled from political literature and information from political parties and trade unions. Harvey admitted that the information was passed on to the police for Special Branch use, and that in return the League had access to police files. He boasted that "I can spot a number plate quicker than you can blink an eye, but I don't want that to go outside because it is illegal."

World in Action confined its report to exposing how the League is involved in harrassing the so-called "left". But in fact it keeps a close watch on the National Front as well. As the London Evening Standard reported (3.3.87): "The League's latest pamphlet, the seventh in a nine-part series on revolutionaries today, took a look at the National Front."

"SUBVERSIVE"

The report was accompanied by a picture of its director general, Mr. Michael Noar, surrounded by "subversive" literature, including NF News.

And LBC news radio in London interviewed an Economic League spokesman who attacked the National Front, accusing the movement of forswearing elections in favour of violence.

The NF Legal Department demanded and received a right of reply on the following day's programme. The Front spokesman pointed to the sinister links of the League with Big Business. As he told the many thousands of listeners, it is obviously in the interests of the League's capitalist paymasters to spread lies about any group which challenges the present System.

GERRY GABLE is a major shareholder and director of the Searchlight Publishing Company. Gerry C. Gable was born on 27th of January, 1937. His mother's maiden name was Levy.

In his youth he was a member of the Young Communist League. Gable stood as a Communist Party candidate for Northfield Ward, Hackney, on Thursday, May 10th, 1962. Researchers can verify this fact by checking pages 1 and 5 of the Hackney Gazette and North London Advertiser of May 8th, 1962, and page 4 of the same paper of May 15th, 1962.

CRIMINAL RECORD

On 14th January, 1964, Mr. Gable admitted breaking into the flat of the historian, David Irving, with intent to steal. Manny Carpel also admitted the offence. They were each fined £20. Gable was also fined £5 for stealing a GPO pass card.

Mr. John Matthew, defence council, had claimed that Gable and Carpel had hoped to find political material which they could take to the Special Branch. Researchers can verify all this information by checking the Evening Standard of the 18th December, 1963, and the same paper of 28th November.

National Front Animal Welfare Group

A DOZEN members of the "National Front Animal Welfare Group" attended March's annual Anti Seal-Netting rally organized by the International Fund for Animal Welfare (IFAW) in Trafalgar Square.

The rally was held outside Canada House to protest against the barbaric Canadian method of catching seals in nets. This is obviously extremely cruel and invariably causes the seals a slow and painful death.

Members of the NFAWG handed out leaflets expressing solidarity with the IFAW's struggle. A couple of "trendies" took exception to the National Front's genuine concern for animal welfare and claimed that "you shouldn't be here."

But members of the NF's Animal Welfare Group don't see why the "left" should have a monopoly on animal rights issues. After all, the National Front has spoken out against the ritual slaughter of animals since it was founded in 1967 and NF members were heavily involved in the early days of the Hunt Sabs.

Towards the end of the rally, our members made their way to the collection buckets to give donations. One of the IFAW's national stewards thanked them for coming. As she told our activists "I don't agree with all your policies, but the National Front are welcome here and I hope you'll all attend the rally again next year."

In the meantime, the NF Animal Welfare Group urges all NFN readers to protest against the barbaric practice of seal-netting. Discuss it with shop-keepers selling Canadian products and write expressing your opposition to this cruelty to: The Hon. Tom Seddon, Minister of Fisheries and Oceans, Centennial Building, CANADA.

Join the struggle now...

THE NATIONAL FRONT'S national enquiry office at P O Box 228 in East London has noted a very substantial increase in the number of enquiries for more information and NF News Supporter status since the start of the year.

This appears in part to be due to media coverage of the unwelcome influx of Tamil Asians, but an upturn in Scotland seems to be the result of the growing credibility of our operation in Ulster.

As a result of this marked upturn in interest a number of established units have seen an increase in their activist strength, and new units such as Thurrock and Preston are making steady progress.

CONSTRUCTIVE

It is also clear that the more serious and constructive approach taken by NF News in recent months has led to a marked improvement on the quality as well as the quantity of new enquirers. As a result, there is now a serious possibility of setting up NF News Supporters Units in the following towns and cities over the next couple of months: Aberdeen; Worksoop; Reigate; Merthyr Tydfil; Battersea, and Livingstone/West Lothian.

While NF sympathizers all over the country are urged to get involved, readers in these areas are particularly strongly urged to get in touch NOW and help to get these new units off the ground.

Get active with the Movement of the Future; write today to: National Front, P O Box 228, Manor Park, London E.12.

THURROCK

THURROCK NF are still hitting the headlines. Local interest in the movement continues to grow as a result of eye-catching paper sales, complete with flags and striking "Thurrock NF" Celtic Cross T-shirts.

As a result, NFN Supporters Unit secretary Paul O'Shane has been quoted extensively in the local press. So as well as the hundreds of people in Thurrock who have now read NF News, thousands more have seen the fact that the main theme of the National Front's school recruitment activity in the area is an anti-drugs campaign.

Our newest unit is certainly doing a good job of spreading the Nationalist message.

NORTH WEST

ST. HELENS NF activists took to the streets of their town again last month, joined by NFN Supporters and NF cadres from Liverpool, Sefton, Burnley, Blackpool and Preston. Local Ulster loyalists also attended.

Just under £5 worth of papers were sold in one hour in the town centre, and around 300 leaflets were also distributed.

Unfortunately, the presence of a large group of Militant Tendency thugs meant that the afternoon ended in an outburst of unprovoked violence against the peaceful NF activity. The reason was all too clear: National Front - over 20 papers sold; Militant - 0 papers sold! And as the NF activists told passers-by about Militant's support for the IRA, the Reds' frustration boiled over.

In an attempt to defuse the highly charged atmosphere, the NFN sellers set off to sell in another part of the town. This responsible action was taken because it is not the intention of the NF to get involved in street battles which could endanger the general public.

Sadly though, the Communists are not concerned for ordinary people. They launched a vicious attack on the NFN sellers and everyone near them.

SHOPPERS ATTACKED

Among those attacked by the Reds were a 65 year old man, a girl, and numerous Saturday shoppers.

But the National Front is determined to continue its work in St. Helens, and the movement's North West Regional Council plans to give whatever assistance is necessary to help the local NFN Supporters' Unit expand its sales drive and recruiting campaign.

As the Organizer told NF News, "we will not be intimidated by Red terror tactics. The true voice of the British working class will not be silenced."

ROTHERHAM

A PAPER SALE was held by NFN Supporters in Rotherham last month, the first for quite some time.

It wasn't easy. Several people who had attended an NF meeting in the town a few days before and who had agreed to go selling failed to turn up. Two local supporters did, however, brave the bitterly cold weather and join three activists from Sheffield for the sale.

There was a small group of Communists trying to sell their papers already standing at the bottom of the shopping area, so to limit the chances of a futile confrontation, the NF sellers took up a pitch in the middle of the precinct. The "Reds", however, seemed more interested in trying to stop the NF than in spreading their brand of "opposition" to the capitalism which has left Rotherham devastated by industrial closures. They immediately moved next to the NF sellers and started hurling abuse.

One wild looking female simply screeched "fascists" repeatedly, but one slightly more articulate Red tried to argue, although his arguments fell flat. He admitted that he wasn't proud to be British and that he believed that Russia was a working class state. He could find no answer to the charge that the Soviet Union is actually a state capitalist regime where privileged Party members get all the luxuries, the best housing and the best education.

He managed to sell one paper, but was shocked to see the NF activists sell several in quite a short time and get talking to their customers. One was a young man who had previously been to an NF meeting but who had lost contact. He was interested in getting more involved and gave his address to the NF Organizer.

Although NFN sales did not break any records, this obvious steady progress (and, strangely, the Siberian weather) so upset the Reds that they skulked off home, leaving the NF sellers to continue their work in peace.

WHAT IS TO BE DONE?

THIS column is specially designed to keep all N.F. officials well informed of forthcoming activities and to remind them of what needs to be done over the next two weeks.

All N.F. officials and activists must therefore make it a top priority to read this column carefully every issue and then to ACT on the information.

* ST. GEORGE'S DAY CADRE MEETING. Sat. April 18th. ALL cadres and candidate cadres must attend. Any 1986 member wishing to apply for candidate cadre status must attend or will have to wait until next year.

NFN 88 will be available for collection. No credit, bring cash. Fare pooling will operate. BE THERE!

* FRIENDS OF THE MOVEMENT CARDS. Use this category to involve newcomers to your unit and people unable to join as active Supporters. Don't let these people drift away - visit them regularly to sell copies of NFN and NT and to push for donations.

* LOCAL CAMPAIGN LEAFLETS. Can your unit produce them. If not, ask any Directorate member or RPO to arrange a training session. They're vital and easy.

* NEW RACE LAWS NOW IN FORCE! Make sure that all NF homes in your area are cleared of suspect literature. Single copies of each issue in personal collections may be kept, but bulk supplies of all back issues over two issues old must be disposed of.

All pre-"revolution" propaganda supplies - e.g. Bulldog, Webster NFNs and Wingfield/Ted Budden issues must be BURNED at once.

Officials must destroy as many files, party records, etc as possible. Attendance records at local meetings must no longer be kept.

* IF ARRESTED - SAY NOTHING. Should you be arrested for whatever reason, give your name, date of birth and address. Then, whatever the police say to you, say just one thing in reply: "I am innocent of any crime, I wish to speak to a solicitor and I have nothing further to say."

Remember! Many innocent people are convicted because they are pressured into making a statement. So stay free - stay silent!

THE REPRESSION FILE

NF ACTIVISTS have always taken it for granted that our rights to free speech and free assembly are threatened by the Marxists and Zionists, but increasingly the main attack on our rights is coming from the State.

If you become a sufferer or know of some act of repression in your area, help us to publicize the facts. Write with details and dates to the N.W.A. at P O Box 228, Manor Park, London E.12.

* Edinburgh NFN issue 84 "lost" in the post. Second part of article on Searchlight "lost" in post. Letters to Norwich P O Box blatantly opened "in the post."

* Supporters poster in Barking report close surveillance by police helicopter and two marked police cars.

* Thurrock activists "tailed" by unmarked police car when walking home after school gate leafletting session.

* Key activists and national officials who were unemployed all ordered to attend interviews with the DHSS.

* Phil Andrews told by sympathetic prison warders on his release from prison that the Special Branch had been sending his letters out to a psychologist for analysis to look for weak points for the future. While "inside", Phil was not allowed to receive any political literature.

Editorial

APRIL FOOLS!

THE NEW Race Relations provisions of the Public Order Act came into force on April 1st. The scope of the new legislation is enormous, making it an important part of the State's armoury of "legal" repression.

These draconian new laws make it an offence to produce or possess for distribution material, or to say anything, which is "intended or likely to incite racial hatred." They make it an offence to possess material which could be used to produce publications which might break this law. This clause could be used to convict some-one who keeps a collection of local press cuttings on crimes such as muggings, or to lock up a known Nationalist activist simply for possessing a typewriter or a hand printing set!

The earlier exemption for literature distributed solely to the members of a political organization, study group or book club, has been abolished. But worst of all, the police now have the power to search premises and seize anything which they think could be linked to breaches of the Race Laws.

MOST DANGEROUS

This provision is without doubt the most dangerous to the National Front, for it provides the police with the right to smash into the homes of Nationalist activists on intimidatory "trawling" raids designed to use the excuse of searching for "racist" material to seize information allowing them to build up a more accurate intelligence picture of the movement for use in future repression. Every reader must act on the essential security measures detailed in this issue's What Is To Be Done? column.

We believe that the State will have great difficulty in getting convictions against National Front leaders and activists. The movement has moved from negative racism to a principled racialism based on love of our own folk and on respect for other people's different identities. We are not "race haters" - that phrase can actually be applied more properly to the liberal perverts and the capitalist/communist materialists who so fear the strength that a people gains from a sense of identity and tradition that they want to force the races to mix and to forget their own roots.

What greater sign of race hatred can there be than to seek to destroy the God-given uniqueness of the races of Man by breeding them out of existence in a sea of coffee-coloured mediocrity?

OUTRAGEOUS

So although the new Race Laws are outrageously repressive and make a mockery of the idea that "free speech" still exists in Britain, they do not worry the National Front unduly. The "search and seize" provisions will almost certainly be used to disrupt our operations by repeated harassment and intimidation, but this is something we have already learned to accept. But there is a good chance that cases which do come to court will end with a bloody nose for the Establishment.

Our enemies' problem is that this law is designed to stop the National Front as it was several years ago. But times, and the NF, have changed. We will continue to say exactly what we want on the Race issue, because what we want to say is principled and constructive.

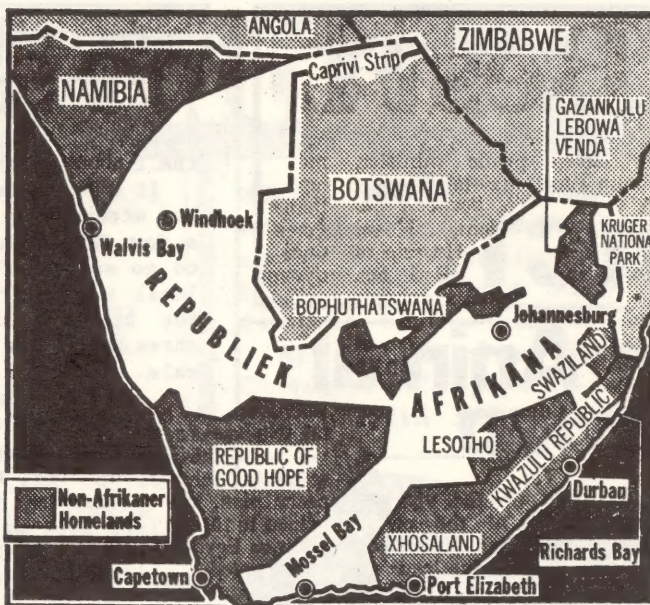

So it's back to the drawing board for the likes of Leon Brittan, Gerald Kaufman and the gnomes of Woburn House who dreamt up the latest "improvements" to the Zionist-created Race Laws. And it's on with the Great Work for the National Front.

IMPORTANT NOTICE; Whenever possible hand correspondence for the NF, NF News or Bookshops to your local NF contact, so that it can be delivered through the movement's internal postal system. This is very important when dealing with subscriptions, orders and membership payments.

If you do have to use the Post Office network, ALWAYS use RECORDED DELIVERY and keep your receipt safely.

While the constant interference with our post is irritating, this attempt to disrupt the NF, is a tribute to its growing effectiveness. So rather than moaning about it, all NF members and supporters must accept the hard work and discipline needed to make our internal communications network an efficient alternative.

THE STEADILY growing international campaign against South Africa is led by Marxists and White-hating liberals. The very sight of these sick and guilt-ridden creatures attacking their own race is enough to make many Nationalists feel sympathetic to the present government of South Africa.

But the Botha state cannot be defended in any way by the Revolutionary Nationalist movement. For it is in reality a capitalist puppet regime which is dragging South Africa further towards cheap labour multi-racialism as quickly as it thinks ordinary Whites will let it.

The truth is that neither the bloody dictatorship of Black "majority rule", nor the repressive exploitation of the present system, offers any hope of peace in South Africa. This NF News in-depth feature examines the real alternative - an alternative which can replace murderous strife and oppression with co-operation and independence.

S.A. NEEDS SEPARATE DEVELOPMENT

THE TRUE meaning of the word "apartheid" is "separate development". When the system was first proposed, it was hoped that this would allow the different races in South Africa to live side by side in peace and dignity.

Yet the turmoil now engulfing South Africa shows all too clearly that this has not happened. Under pressure from profit-hungry capitalists, apartheid has now degenerated into a hypocritical shambles. The "homelands" given to the Blacks are too small to be viable, so their "rights" of citizenship there are an insult. Blacks are forced to study in Afrikaans, which to them is a foreign language. Working class whites are forced by economic necessity to live next to violent black townships and squatters' camps. The whole rotten system is collapsing.

But the Communist and liberal "answer" to the problem is even worse. They want to force all the peoples of South Africa into one "democratic" state where everyone has the vote, but where the only votes which count would be those of the Black majority.

Block voting on tribal lines would lead to the White, Coloured and minority Black groups losing all their rights under an oppressive Black tribal dictatorship. A horrific racial civil war would be the only possible result.

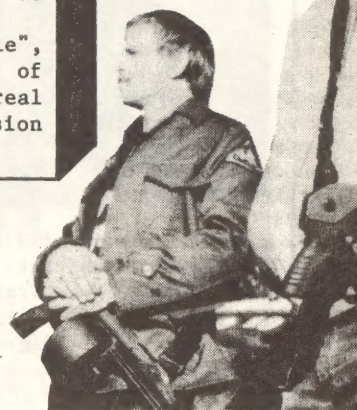

SANE ALTERNATIVE

But several Boer political and cultural groups have now proposed a "Third Way" which could create a sane alternative to the unstable capitalist exploitation favoured by the present South African government, and to the bloodbath proposed by the liberal media and Black terrorist opposition.

They aim, quite simply, to carve up the present multi-racial mess and create a series of mono-racial homelands for each of South Africa's nations. Our map shows the partition proposed by the radical Oranje Werkers, an Afrikaner organization committed to the idea of a White homeland.

The heartland of the new Boer nation would be the Transvaal and the Orange Free State, both of which were Boer republics in the late 19th century, until crushed by British imperialism aiming to open up their land for exploitation by British and Jewish gold and diamond magnates.

The whites would retain control of several key ports and part of South West Africa, although the heavily populated Ovambo area would become the independent Black state of Namibia.

Way offers hope to all in AFRICA

An Absurd Situation

MANU AND NADIA nurse a strange secret from their young daughters - they are divorced. Paradoxically, it was the only way they could buy a house together in South Africa.

The family live in the Cape Town suburb of Woodstock. The multi-racial nature of Woodstock is in direct defiance of the Pretoria government's stated policy of enforcing racial segregation under the Group Areas act. Section 12 of this act stipulates that in the case of couples of differing races, the race of the husband determines the group area in which they must live.

Manu is Indian, so by marrying him Nadia officially became Indian as well. But the street where they live in Woodstock is classified as Coloured (i.e. for individuals of mixed race). So Nadia divorced him and so became officially Coloured again and could therefore buy their house in her own name.

ABSURD

Where does this absurd situation end? The government has now decided to reclassify the whole of Woodstock as a Coloured area. But according to the last census in 1980, Woodstock's population is 50% Coloured and 39% White, with smaller minorities of Indians and Blacks.

Some 90% of residents are believed to be in favour of a multi-racial suburb. Afrikaner nationalists, like the National Front and also many proud Blacks, do not share their coffee coloured "vision" of life, but this small multi-racial minority does not necessarily threaten the opportunity of others to build their own mono-racial societies.

Yet orthodox thinking on Apartheid, both for and against, can only lead to conflict and offers no long term solutions. The Pretoria regime is determined to maintain an unstable multi-racial state to provide cheap labour for Big Business. This means that Botha & Co. must interfere in the right of peoples of all races to national self-determination.

SELECTIVE

But the liberal international media are typically selective in expressing moral approval for the right of Woodstock to remain a multi-racial community. The same rights of the majority of Whites and Blacks to live separately with their own kind are condemned. In truth, this has less to do with "morality" and more to do with the exploitative interests of the media's capitalist owners.

South Africa's present race laws are ludicrous because they seek to impose a single will on diverse peoples. If the present South African state continues, the capitalists will gradually replace all the corrupt stupidity of petty apartheid with equally repressive Race Laws intended to silence both their Black and White nationalist opponents.

FRICTION

Racial friction is the inevitable result of a multi-racial society, but state repression is no solution to the demands of both Blacks and Whites to control their own political destinies.

If some people want a piece of Africa to form a new multi-racial community, that is their business. But it is the equal right of the mass of Blacks and Whites to demand true racial separation through the creation of, their own nation states.

THE EXPLOITERS

IT HAS BEEN said that Thatcher's opposition to sanctions against South Africa is evidence of some sneaking sympathy for the Pretoria regime. But her ruthlessly anti-White policy in Southern Africa was made clear by her leading role in the handing over of Rhodesia to blood-thirsty Marxist terrorists in 1979 makes this unlikely.

A more plausible explanation for her behaviour is the fear that isolation from the internationalist capitalist economy could lead South Africa's population to discover by force of circumstance that there is a real alternative not only to communism, but also to capitalism.

Editorials in Establishment mouthpieces like the Times and Sunday Telegraph have warned that economic warfare will simply encourage South Africa to adopt a full scale "siege economy".

TALKS WITH TERRORISTS

The South African business community, which is largely upper class English and Zionist, has been quick to import cheap Black labour and to hold talks with Marxist terrorists. These profit-hungry bosses have voiced concern about ordinary Whites preferring isolation from the international economy rather than being forced to submit to Black rule.

There is no doubt that White South Africa could survive sanctions. The success of tiny Rhodesia showed how ineffective such measures are against a determined and unite people. And there are many aggressive exporters, such as South Korea and Taiwan, who would happily step into any gaps left by South Africa's present trading partners.

But a move by South Africa towards self-sufficiency would be a serious blow not only to "South African" capitalists such as Harry Oppenheimer, but to the international financial community as a whole. It is this, not concern for the future of the threatened Boer nation, which makes Thatcher so determined to avoid sanctions.

COMMUNITY ACTION

COMMUNITY ACTION seeks to help the National Front sink local roots. Indeed, we see this as a very small step along the road to establishing a whole network of NF Advice Centres throughout the British Isles.

We want to expose local council corruption and incompetence, fight closures of schools, factories and hospitals, and campaign for decent housing and social services for our people. We also try to carry articles on what people are entitled to by way of benefits and consumer rights. We hope that this helps individual readers as well as giving NF activists the knowledge they need to give advice to people in need of Community Action help.

We also wish to help encourage self-help and community pride and care, which are being destroyed by the selfish attitudes which dominate our society.

If you want Community Action to focus on a problem or campaign in your area, send further details to Community Action, P O Box 41, Norwich, NR3 2AH, Norfolk.

NF declare war on the muggers

NFN SUPPORTERS UNITS in East London are leaving their comrades in the rest of the country standing when it comes to Community Action. The latest advance has been the work of Supporters and cadres in Dagenham & Barking.

NF News carried a brief report on the Barking NF 'anti-mugging patrol' in our last issue. But the nationwide potential for this kind of activity is so great that we've turned our Community Action page this issue into a special feature on this exciting new approach.

We hope that this will help show new readers that the National Front, although a very long way away from political power, is already taking steps to help ordinary Britons live happier and more peaceful lives. And we trust that other local units will be inspired to get to work in their own areas and help to make NF Community Action projects a nationwide example of the benefits of Nationalism in Action.

This "Propaganda of the Deed" is something which the National Front has tried only sporadically in its twenty year history. Yet its appeal to the public is obvious and the benefits to be gained are enormous. NF News looks forward to publishing further such reports in the future, as more and more units find ways to turn their Nationalist principles into Community Action.

THIS Community Action Report was submitted to NFN by the local Organizer, along with a good selection of photographs, press cuttings, and samples of leaflets produced locally to draw attention to the NF campaign.

This is exactly the information we need to create an interesting and useful news report such as this. When did your unit last feature in such an article? What is your committee doing to deserve such coverage? What are you doing to help them?

The National Front is a movement of constructive action - so get active!

FIGHT BACK FOR BRITAIN!

20p

A GRAND CANYON OF MISERY IN THATCHER'S DIVIDED BRITAIN—OFFICIAL.

THE SICK SOCIETY

BRITAIN is a divided nation. One third of the population is now officially described as living on poverty level wages or benefits. The poor and unemployed suffer more ill-health and earlier death than the wealthy and people at the top of the social heap. And the gap is widening with each year of Tory misrule.

Youngsters who should be working to build a better future are often untrained and illiterate. Unemployment is much worse than the official estimates, but bosses' pay is still expanding at double the inflation rate.

This is the shocking picture of national division and decline to emerge from a series of reports over the last month. Whatever Tory spokesmen say about "booming Britain", the FACTS tell a very different story - Britain is being torn in two!

FACT

* Nearly one in three UK homes has an income below the Council of Europe's decency threshold. 6.5 million are on less than £125 a week. Out of £8.1 billion given away in tax cuts since 1979, the poorest six million taxpayers have got only 8%. The richest million - 5% of the total - have shared between them one third of the total tax cuts. (Low Pay Unit).

FACT

* About a quarter of those entering the Job Training Scheme (JTS) for young adult long-term jobless are illiterate. And the majority have no qualifications of any kind. (Manpower Services Commission).

FACT

* Official government figures underestimate the true level of unemployment by nearly 50%, with a true "jobs gap" of 4.7 million. One and a half million jobless are kept out of the official figures because they are on community programme schemes, on Y.T.S. courses, or are ineligible for benefit. (Dr. Robinson, Newcastle University).

FACT

* Executives got average annual salary increases of 7.5% - twice the rate of inflation - with many getting as high as 30%. It is not uncommon to find top executives' pay of £300,000 a year - 30 times the earnings of a full-time male manual worker, compared with a "mere" 18 times back in 1975. (Income Data Services).

FACT

* Thatcher's government have tried to cover up disturbing health figures four times since 1980. The reports expose the widening gap in health care between rich and poor, show that the poorer sections of the community are dying at much faster rates than the privileged class, and pinpoint unemployment as a major health hazard, as well as showing that the unemployed and their families have far worse physical and mental health than those in work. ("Inequalities in health" by Sir Douglas Black, Professor Peter Townsend, - National Advisory Committee on Nutrition Education, - "Guide to healthy eating" by The Health Education Council, - "The Health Divide: Inequalities in health in the 1980's" by The Health Education Council.)

British youth don't have a future in Capitalist society. Is it any wonder that some try to "escape" from a living hell.

The shocking facts and figures published on this page show all too clearly how the gap between rich and poor, like the gap between the south east and the rest of Britain, has widened into a Grand Canyon of misery in Thatcher's Britain. Over 4.5 million really jobless; half a million families in the "poverty trap"; 6.5 million on low pay - all look to the future with worry and fear.

The only hope is that this fear can be turned into anger. Anger against a System which throws skilled workers and youthful enthusiasm alike onto the scrapheap, while all around us there is work crying out to be done.

THE DISTURBING FACTS revealed in the latest Health Education Council report, "The Health Divide: Inequalities in Health in the 1980's", show an alarming trend that the National Front have often suspected. But at long last the facts have emerged even though the Tories had successfully suppressed such information since 1980.

The latest report shows that the death rate amongst the jobless is 36 per cent higher than for those in work. The higher death rate also applies to the families of the unemployed. According to the report, mental health deteriorates and heart trouble, lung cancer and suicide occur more frequently.

It is also claimed that even those who don't own a car or their own homes are likely to die more quickly.

The last two examples may superficially appear hard to believe, but the reason why quickly becomes clear when looked at more deeply.

SMOKING

As with poverty, insecurity and reliance on things that you have no control over, also lead to stress related diseases such as heart and lung trouble, mental health problems and suicide.

It is a well known fact that stress and insecurity lead to unhealthy lifestyles involving smoking and drinking. For instance, nurses, who are chronically underpaid and have to work under increasingly difficult conditions, due to health cuts and about 30,000 nurses leaving every year because of the bad conditions and low pay, contain amongst their ranks an enormous percentage of heavy smokers, even though they, more than anyone else, know the health risks involved.

The poor also eat much more junk food than those with the money to enable them not to. Added together with bad housing conditions, low pay, unemployment, overcrowded conditions, pollution, and rabbit warren living in vast sprawling estates and high rise blocks, the trend is not surprising.

NO ANSWER

There is no answer to this horrific situation under the present system. Whichever government is in power, nothing really changes. Under the present Capitalist system people will always have to live with unemployment, low pay, large taxes, inflation, cuts, bad housing and insecurity.

The only way that this will change is when people reject the corrupt, self-seeking politicians of today and their various parties. Only when people work for themselves in widespread small businesses and producers' co-operatives which can only be achieved through a debt-free financial system as advocated by the NF, will things change.

Only through a usury-free financial system can bad housing conditions and a chronic shortage of houses be eliminated.

Only when the people demand a new system can money be poured into eliminating pollution, and into nationalized services such as the NHS.

Only when YOU seek a revolutionary change in society with the NF, will things change.

This and earlier receipts have enabled us to buy the first of the double disk drive computers which we need to improve the speed and quality of our propaganda production. Our next requirement is a modem, which will allow our machines to exchange article text rapidly over the telephone. With the software, this stage of our modernization programme will cost £400.

The National Front needs to make this next step forward by the middle of May, which means we must speed things up. So please dig deep and help us continue the excellent progress.
